

WILDCAT CINDER
TEAMS PREPARE
FOR DUAL MEET

Varsity and Frosh Track Men
Will Open Season Saturday on Stoll Field

HAYES OWENS LEADS
CAT SQUAD IN FORM

Lexington Youth Heads Field
As Most Probable Winner of Day

By Wayman Thomason

Coach Bernie Shively sped his Wildcat tracksters through their final tryouts Thursday for places on the team which will oppose Georgetown in a dual meet on Stoll field Saturday afternoon. Coach Merwin Potter's frosh team will face the Georgetown Cubs in a dual meet the same day.

This doubleheader-dual-meet is the first offering of the season to track followers and although there will be no derby candidates present, it is expected to attract a lot of attention. Hayes Owens, by virtue of a scintillating three-quarters workout on Tuesday, leads the field as the most probable winner of the day. He galloped the distance in 2:28, and his stock in the mile event went booming as Georgetown is reported to be weak in the distance events. Twaddell will trot along with Owens for company in this event on Saturday. He received his training on the Cincinnati Gym Club team and under pressure he can breeze along around 4:40 in the four-lap affair.

Visitors Strong in Sprints

However, in the sprints, it looks like all Kentucky can get is a bad cold for her trouble. Young Adams, the Georgetown wonder, is supposed to be a sure thing if he goes to the post. He is one of the best sprinters who ever broke the tape in Kentucky. He will be ushered to the wire by Holt and Harris of Kentucky if the boys run true to form. Holt is just recovering from a pulled tendon and may not be in the best of shape.

With Clyde Jones and Wayman Thomason in the quarter-mile event, Kentucky might be able to pull through, but it looks like Coach Shively will have to jerk one of these boys from the half-mile and substitute Owens if he wants to whip Hawkins and Waters, two of the best middle distance men that Georgetown ever had. All of the runners mentioned have run the half in 2:04 or under. Thomason just escaped a case of pneumonia during the holidays and can not possibly get in shape to run.

Freddie McLane, the Newport jumper, will be one of the great stars of the day. He is jumping over 22 feet. Gibson is conceded an edge over McLane in the high jump with a height of 5 feet 10 inches. Captain Kavanaugh and Swede Urevig are the best in the weight events.

The timber toppers and shin skimmers, the hurdlers, have been training arduously, but cold weather handicaps the members of that profession. Weiman appears to have the edge in the low hurdles and Gibson in the highs. Maxson will probably compete in both events. The drawn out two-mile run will find Cochran and Johnson wearing the Blue and White over the tiresome eight-lap journey.

WILL PRESENT BIBLE DRAMA

Members of Professor Farquhar's class in literature of the Bible will dramatize literary extracts from the book of Proverbs as a part of the program of the English Club next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 111 of McVey hall. The characters in the brief sketches will wear costumes appropriate for the parts presented. Visitors are welcome, to this, and all meetings of the club. Refreshments will be served.

Hurricanes, Quizzes and Spring Floods
Beset U. K. Campus, But Not for Long

By Jess M. Laughlin

Like the man who persisted in hitting himself upon the head because it felt so good when he stopped, Kentucky likewise has her own unique little ways of making us appreciate any and all evidences that Spring might have "come"! Hurricanes, floods, arctic atmospheres; all have combined to make us appreciate the fine weather that the grand old Blue Grass can so easily put forth when it has a mind to.

Now that the superstition is fulfilled that the groundhog's shadow foretells six weeks' bad luck, and the roof has literally been raised, anything may be expected from cool summer breezes to the prostrating heat waves.

That the outlook might not appear too pessimistic, let a word be said about the joys and pleasures that are ours in the Spring. There are quite a few sumptuous affairs left

WHAS Remote Control Studio
Is Operated on U. K. Campus

Quartet Sings for Initial Program from Local Leased Wire Station

PRESIDENT McVEY IS INAUGURAL SPEAKER

Agricultural Talks Will Be Broadcast; Music Hour on Wednesday Nights

The University remote control radio station, connected with WHAS by a special leased wire, was inaugurated last Monday by Dr. Frank L. McVey, who spoke on "Radio Greetings from the University." By means of an arrangement between the University and The Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, owners and operators of the station, the wealth of educational information and musical talent of the University is made available to Kentuckians and others of the radio audience.

Monday's program opened with an organ solo, "U. K. Alma Mater," by Elmer G. Sulzer. The number played by Mr. Sulzer has been selected as the theme song of the University station.

Following the organ solo, the University quartet, composed of Hugh Adcock, Toy Sandefur, Ray Mays and L. J. Alexander, sang, "On, On, U. K."

Judge R. W. Bingham then spoke for five minutes from the studio in Louisville and Dr. McVey in Lexington gave a five-minute talk.

Dr. McVey's address, in part, follows:

"The University is on the air—a long-deferred hope finally brought to fruition. In this day of grace

Summer School Will Open Here June 17

Dean W. S. Taylor Will Be
Director for Both
Sessions

Two University summer school sessions are to be held from June 17 to July 20, and from July 22 to August 24, according to an announcement by Dean W. S. Taylor, director of the summer sessions.

Bulletins have been printed announcing the summer sessions and will be mailed to interested persons throughout the state.

Coaching courses in football and basketball will be offered this year by Harry Gamage, head coach, and John Mauer, basketball mentor. Bernie Shively will help in practical work. Paul McBrayer will act as a demonstrator.

Officers of the summer sessions will be Dr. Frank L. McVey, president; Dean Taylor, director; Dr. Wellington Patrick, assistant director, and W. C. Bell, state superintendent of public instruction.

"A record enrollment is expected for this year's courses," Dean Taylor said.

on the school calendar which contrive to please any but the extremely bored and ennuied. After the smoke has cleared away from the ones who have passed from among us, there begins the "long trek" to "camp" on the Kentucky. For countless years fraternities and sororities have entertained down at Clifton as a closing chapter to another year at the University.

Somehow when one sees the sun sink down there over the Palisades and the moon rise majestically, huge and red, like another sun, it makes one think of the last rays of a sinking sun through the stained windows of some majestic cathedral.

Later, with moonlight twinkling on the waters, a banjo strumming in the distance around some nearby bend, a canoe drifting lazily by. Can anyone say that once Kentucky gets "right" she can't be beat?

ANNUAL JUNIOR
PROM TO BE HELD
IN GYM TONIGHT

Junior Class Formal Dance
Promises to Be Elaborate
Social Event

KATHLEEN FITCH IS ILL; CAN NOT ATTEND

Coronation of Queen Will Not Take Place; Special No-
Breaks Planned

The Junior Prom, annual feature of the University social calendar, will be held tonight in the Men's gymnasium. It promises to be one of the most outstanding dances of the year, according to an announcement made yesterday by the committee on arrangements.

Due to the illness of Miss Kathleen Fitch, who was chosen by a vote of the Junior class as Junior Prom Queen, the coronation will not take place during the dance, but her election will be announced and a special no-break will be held in her honor.

The election of a Junior Prom Queen is an innovation at the University, although it has been the custom for several years in Northern and Eastern colleges. The officers of the Junior class hope the custom will become permanent on the University campus.

This dance is to be strictly formal, and no one will be admitted except those in formal attire, and having a bid. Bids have been placed in mail boxes of members of the Junior class, each of whom received one date and two stag bids. Freshmen and sophomores will obtain their bids from Juniors.

Six no-breaks will be held, besides the Junior Prom Queen special and the Junior class special. Music for the occasion will be furnished by two colored orchestras from Louisville, Jordan's and Winstead's, which will play in opposition.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the dance is composed of Harry Calloway, chairman; Miss Mary Brown, Miss Dorothy Monroe, Delaney O'Rourke, and Frank Davidson.

Annual Registrar
Convention Meets

Sessions Close Today; President McVey Will Speak at 11 o'clock

Representatives from more than 50 colleges and universities throughout the United States have been in attendance at the seventh annual Institute for Registrars which has been in session at the University since Monday. The last meeting will be held this afternoon.

The program for the week consisted of a series of five lectures by the following: President Frank L. McVey, Dr. Floyd W. Reeves, Ezra L. Gillis, and C. C. Rose, all of the University. Courses were conducted in class-room manner and were open to anyone interested in this kind of work.

The program for today's session is as follows:

The Human Touch in Administration, by Ezra L. Gillis, at 9 a. m. Unit Costs in Higher Education, by Floyd W. Reeves, at 10 a. m. The Alumni, by Frank L. McVey, at 11 a. m.

Special Application of Statistics and Graphics to the Problems of the Registrar, by C. C. Rose, 2 p. m. LOST! Black leather notebook, containing history notes, Professor Lunde's class; introductory to European history. Reward if notes are returned to Kernel office.

Prof. Fred Riffy
To Be Convocation
Speaker Tuesday

Prof. J. Fred Riffy, of Duke University, North Carolina, who is being brought here under the auspices of Pan-Politikon, student organization for the furthering of international relations, will be the principal speaker at convocation Tuesday, April 9, at the fourth hour, in the Men's gymnasium. The subject of his speech will be "The Political and Social Evolution."

He will also deliver an address Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the gymnasium on the "Pan-Politikon Movement," at which time all who are interested are invited to attend.

Dr. Riffy is the author of "Latin America in World Politics." He has spent some time under the Carnegie Foundation in Columbia.

Pan-Politikon is devoting the month of April to the study of Pan-Americanism. Special arrangements have been made for lectures on this subject to be given in the classrooms of the various departments, in order that an international interest may be stimulated.

NOTICE

Students having unpaid checks at the business office of the University must call and pay same immediately, otherwise they will be dropped from classes. This is the final notice to this effect.

Stroller Premiere of "Square
Crooks" Is Marked Success

MAY QUEEN VOTE
WILL BE APRIL 24

Nominations for Queen of May Day Festivities Must Be In April 11; Signatures of Twenty Boys Required.

Nominations for the Queen of the
May are now in order.

The election of the "Queen" who will preside over the annual May Day festivities, will be held Wednesday, April 24, from 8 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1 to 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Ballot boxes will be placed at three or four prominent places on the campus, according to an announcement from the election committee which is composed of Job Turner, chairman; James Findley, James Shropshire and Beverly Waddell.

All co-eds must have a standing of one in order to compete for the honor, it was announced. Freshman co-eds may not compete and transfers from other colleges must have been residents at the University for at least two years. The girl who receives the highest number of votes will be May Queen and the next highest will be her maid of honor. Four attendants will also be chosen. The signatures of twenty male students are required for a nomination. The photograph of the winning contestant will be published in The Kernel April 28. Each candidate must turn in a photograph together with her nomination before noon Thursday, April 11.

The Starman Studio on North Broadway has offered to make, free of charge, pictures of May Day candidates. They only ask that the contestants report at the studio at an early date in order that the work may be facilitated and the photographs prepared for publication. Any photographs submitted which have been made by anyone except Starman will not be accepted by the committee which has been appointed to superintend the election.

May Day will be celebrated on Friday, May 3, at which time the Queen of the May will be honored.

Counselors to Give Vocational Guidance Class

By E. L. Cloyd, in The Technician
For many years the Young Men's Christian Association has been interested in the development of the Vocational Guidance Movement, but not until the summer of 1928 was Vocational Guidance or Educational Counseling made a definite part of the program of the Y. M. C. A. Conference at Blue Ridge.

Mr. Owen E. Pence, research secretary of the Personnel Division of the National Council of Y. M. C. A., was secured to direct the counseling service, and there were associated with him a committee of outstanding men of representative Southern colleges.

The plan of work was for this group to set with Mr. Pence for an hour and a half each day to discuss problems and technique. Each counselor then agreed to meet with from three to five students who asked for counseling service for at least one hour each day.

In carrying out the counseling service there was no effort on the part of any counselor to send the student away at the end of the ten-day period with his life work all laid out for him and his success assured. Such a procedure would have been impossible as well as utterly foolish.

What the counselors did endeavor to do was, first of all, to become thoroughly acquainted with the students assigned to them. Following this they attempted to discover certain "vocational tendencies" in the individual and finally, to try to point out to each individual those occupations or professions in which their fullest expression in service.

First Lexington Performance of Annual Play Is Held In Guignol Theater

RUTH BONNIN, ANDREW
HOOVER HEAD CAST

Frank Davidson Is Director;
Play Will Run Through
Saturday Night

By Jessie Marie Sun

"Square Crooks," a three-act mystery-comedy from the pen of James P. Judge, was admirably presented last night by Strollers at the Guignol theater for the first performance of a three-day run. The artistic achievement of this seventeenth annual production of the organization ranks "Square Crooks" as another success in Stroller history.

A delightful comedy, a capable and well chosen cast, and effective stage settings, combined under the able direction of Frank Davidson, have resulted in a highly entertaining performance.

The disappearance of the famous Carston pearls and the subsequent entanglement and suspicion of two former crooks forms the plot of the play. The entire action takes place in the apartment of Eddie Ellison, chauffeur to Mrs. Philip Carston, who lives with his wife, Kay Ellison and her friend Jane Brown, in the O'Rourke rooming house in New York City.

Eddie and Larry Scott, his friend, who is in love with Jane, are the two former crooks who innocently acquire the pearls which cause the difficulties.

Noted Critic Will Address Graduates

Dr. Carl Van Doren Secured
as Commencement
Speaker

Dr. Carl Van Doren, editor-in-chief of the Literary Guild and associate professor in English literature at Columbia University, has been secured to deliver the commencement address to the graduating class at the University, it was learned yesterday.

Dr. Van Doren, who was formerly editor of The Nation and The Century Magazine, is one of the foremost literary critics, writers, editors and educators in the country. He is author of such books as "The Life of Thomas Love Peacock," "Contemporary American Novelists," "James Branch Cabell," and others, and has done valuable work as a translator.

The eminent critic is probably best known to the laymen as one of the Advisory Board of the Literary Guild which each month selects what it considers the most outstanding book appearing on the market. In the guise of a literary selector for the public, Dr. Van Doren has done remarkable work in directing the public to the cream of current literature.

Staff Goes Hungry While Kernel
Election Is Producing New Editors

By Sara Elvove

Boom! and the feelings of quite a few candidates and participants-at-large lay down. However, such things must always take place at elections, and why should a Kernel election take exception? Sensitive feeling eventually outgrew the sensitiveness, but The Kernel is a thing which will, we hope, go on forever.

And thus there arose, from 'midst sound and fury, a new editor to conduct the policies of the University paper, a new managing editor to relieve the editor of unnecessary labor, and a new business manager to fill the shoes of Jimmy Shropshire, ex-business manager, than whom there is no better financial genius—not the shoes.

The business of being editor of a paper is no joke, as William Glanz informed his successor, Wilbur G. Frye. There are, he announced authoritatively, more trials and tribu-

PROMINENT MEN
TO GIVE TALKS
AT BLUE RIDGE

Fletcher Brockman, T. Z. Koo,
Dr. Henry Crane Are
on 1929 Program

STUDENTS WILL MEET
LEADERS PERSONALLY

Schedule Also Includes Many Social Occasions and Contacts

The Student Conference at Blue Ridge for the summer of 1929 is prepared to announce as its speakers Fletcher Brockman, Christian world statesman; T. Z. Koo, interpreter of the Orient to the West and inimitable in his presentation of the heart of the Christian message, and Dr. Henry Crane, regarded as the most acceptable speaker today to students of the eastern colleges and universities. Two other speakers of a similar calibre will be announced later.

Realizing that certain major life adjustments confront the students during their four years in college, and that they must decide what they are going to do about vocation, girls, religion, the church, education, etc., all having experiences, and that most of the students are puzzled by the difficulties involved and make choices blindly and disastrously, the leaders of the conference have secured these men to guide students in these important phases of life.

With adequate provision for personal conference, forum, and group discussion, inspiring presentations, and ample time for quiet meditation in the seclusion of the mountains, they believe that an almost unparalleled opportunity is made available.

The best skilled leadership to be found is being drawn from colleges and universities, both north and south. For the vocational counseling service there will be a group of counselors selected from southern colleges, who will give their whole thought and time to the personal needs of individual students. This part of the program is being planned and carried through by a group of college deans under the chairmanship of President H. W. Chase, of the University of North Carolina. Dean Francis F. Bradshaw has been secured as expert leader of this group in the field of counseling, and associated with him will be Mr. Harry Bone, of Columbia University and Union Seminary, on campus life adjustments, and Dr. English Bagby, well known expert in the psychology of personality.

Running through the conference will be a number of smaller interest groups delving into such questions as students themselves may choose for discussion in relation to the application of Christian principles to the problems on the campus and in the community.

Recreation

This phase of the conference will be in charge of competent athletic directors, who will help organize the sports, tennis, basketball, swimming, rowing, track, hiking, etc. The afternoons will be completely devoted to these activities, or to such recreation as the delegates themselves may choose. Tournaments will be arranged, in which the delegations with sufficient numbers can participate.

These are some of the values that will go to make the annual Student Conference at Blue Ridge a memorable event in the lives of those discriminating students who choose to invest two weeks of the next vacation period in one of the most inspiring and altogether satisfying experiences that come in a lifetime.

DR. CHARLES JUDD TO SPEAK

Dr. Charles H. Judd, of the University of Chicago, will be the speaker for the annual Graduate Club banquet to be held April 23 at 6:30 o'clock in the Phoenix hotel, according to an announcement by Miss Emily Ford, secretary of the club. A number of features are being prepared for the banquet by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, dean of the graduate school.

CLASS REUNIONS

The officers of the Alumni Association last fall announced that a system of class reunions had been adopted and that during Commencement this year certain of the classes of the University would hold reunions. These classes are: 1869, 1874, 1879, 1884, 1889, 1894, 1899, 1904, 1914, 1919, 1924 and 1927. Preliminary announcement was made recently in a letter to the members of these classes from Dr. G. Davis Buckner, president of the Alumni Association.

This week local committees from the different classes are being formed and these committees will arrange a program of events for the homecoming. Just as soon as the program is completed a copy will be sent to every member of the classes to hold reunions.

This is the first ambitious program of reunions that has been attempted by the Alumni Association of the University of Kentucky and much remains to be done as yet. The officers of the Alumni Association are giving a great deal of time and effort to these reunions, and the full cooperation of the officers and members of the classes named is needed. Of course the officers realize that all of you cannot attend the reunion but they would like to hear from you. In a short time a letter will be mailed asking you to let your committee know if you can attend. Please answer that letter. It will make everything much easier for those who are planning your entertainment during the reunion.

The officers also wish to explain that while certain of the classes are returning to anniversary reunions, every alumnus is urged and expected for the annual homecoming. Entertainment features are being arranged that will include all alumni and former students.

If you are a member of one of the above classes write to your intimates among your classmates and urge them to meet you on the campus during Commencement. You will be glad that you came.

K. E. A. ANNOUNCEMENT

The annual University of Kentucky banquet will be held during the meeting of the K. E. A. this month in Louisville. The committee has announced that it will be Thursday evening, April 18, at the Kentucky hotel. The time is 6 o'clock. Tickets will be on sale at the University of Kentucky headquarters in the Brown hotel. The Alumni Association will have a desk at University headquarters. Make it your headquarters. A full program will be announced in the next issue of The Kernel.

LOUISVILLE CLUB TO GIVE DANCE

President of Club Announces Program and Date for Big Event; to be Held in Brown Building.

Plans are rapidly being pushed for worthwhile events among the Alumni over at Louisville and the Jefferson county metropolis will have a real worthwhile club, according to plans being worked out by Walter F. Wright, Class of '14, president, and his committee.

Saturday, April 6, the regular meeting day of the Louisville club, will see more than a score of former students gathered in the dining room of the University Club located on the third floor of the Brown building, luncheon to be served at 12:30 o'clock. The U. K. Club has the distinction of being the very first one to initiate this dining room for it was the "Kentucky" group to make reservations for the service, which was ahead of even the first meal to be served the public.

The Annual dinner dance of the Louisville Alumni Club will be held Saturday night, April 13, from 6 until 2 o'clock, also at the University Club. President Walter Wright has made it his special job to make this event successful and he has spared no pains. According to his announcement, President Frank L. McVey and Prof. E. F. "Red" Farquhar will be on the program. Three other interesting speakers have been obtained. He also has announced that he has obtained the services of an excellent orchestra to furnish the music for the dance following the dinner.

President Wright announces the appointment of Bob Mitchell as treasurer, due to the fact that Robert F. Richey has so much work as secretary to do that it has become necessary to divide the office of secretary-treasurer.

Following is a copy of the announcement of the dinner dance and notice regarding local dues to the Louisville Alumni Association, and calling attention to the regular monthly meeting, April 6:

ASHLAND ALUMNI ESTABLISH CLUB

Large Attendance at First Formal Meeting of Kentucky Group; J. Sneed Yeager Heads Group.

Another active alumni club has been added to the list. Alumni living in Ashland, Ky., and vicinity have reorganized the club there and already have begun a program of activities. The first meeting of the newly organized Ashland Alumni Club was held at the Ventura hotel in that city on the evening of Friday, March 22. It was in the form of a banquet and more than 30 graduates and former students were present. Dr. G. Davis Buckner, president of the Alumni Association, was the principal speaker and officers for the club were elected.

The officers for the newly reorganized Ashland club are as follows: J. Sneed Yeager, president; Harry B. Tilton, vice president; Mrs. E. G. Leachman, secretary, and W. P. Eaton, treasurer.

After the dinner, Dr. Buckner talked to the club and outlined some of the immediate aims of the Alumni Association and told what the alumni as an organization are trying to do for the University of Kentucky. His talk was interesting and was thoroughly enjoyed by all the members of the Ashland club.

A meeting of the new officers of the alumni club will be held in the near future and a program of meetings will be arranged.

There are approximately 100 graduates and former students living in and near Ashland and all of them are interested in the reorganization of the Ashland Alumni Club. The officers of the club plan to make an effort to get all graduates and former students active in the club.

Ashland is ideally located for the first large and active alumni organization in that section of Kentucky. The officers of the Alumni Association plan to make it a key organization in their efforts to organize all the alumni of Kentucky into clubs. A large number of the Ashland alumni have been away from the University but a few years and they combine the enthusiasm of loyal Kentuckians with their close association with the University and its affairs. The Ashland club promises to be one of the most active and largest of the several alumni clubs.

WHICH

By John Richard Moreland
If I could make you
Songs of love
And cry them in the street
Would you buy one, O passerby,
And find it sweet?

If I could make you
Songs of grief
And sell them in the mart
Would you pause long enough to hear
An echo in your heart?

Or will you let me

Cry my wares,
And in the teasing throng
Be blind to all loves little joys?
Be deaf of sorrows song?

Kappa Delta Banquet

The members of the Kappa Delta social sorority entertained with a banquet Tuesday night at the Phoenix hotel in honor of their initiates. The dinner table was tastefully decorated in spring flowers in crystal bowls, which carried out the color scheme, green and white.
"The Deck of Kappa Delta" was the theme of the interesting program which was given. Miss Kathleen Fitch presided as toastmistress. The initiates were Miss Louisa Bickel, Miss Mary Griffith, Miss Dorothy Jones, Miss Florence McLaughlin, Miss Anne Gareth, Miss Frances Holland, Miss Sybil Lacy, Miss Marion Sands. The active members are Miss Eloise Connor, Miss Phoebe Dimock, Miss Virginia Eckard, Miss Kathleen Fitch, Miss Elizabeth Hensley, Miss Mamie Lyons, Miss Rebecca Patton, Miss Mary Louise Renaker, Miss Lydia Roberts, Miss Nell Spradlin, Miss Agnes Stiman, Miss Buena Mathis, Miss Margaret Tandy.

The pledges are Misses Betty Crawford, Ruth Mays, Anne Shropshire, Anne Thomas Denton, Gladys Rice, Virginia Young.
The guests were Mrs. T. A. Stebbins, Mrs. J. T. Pridmore, Miss Lucille Farmer, Miss Soris Smith.

Visitors Entertained

Dr. and Mrs. McVey entertained the visitors to the Institute for Registrars on Tuesday afternoon with tea at Maxwell Place from 4 to 6.
Professor Gillis and Mrs. Gillis, Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Reeves, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ross were in the receiving line with Mrs. McVey.
Other members of the faculty assisted in entertaining.

Tea for Children

Dr. and Mrs. McVey's Wednesday afternoon tea was devoted to the small children of the members of the faculty.

Mrs. Harry B. Tilton and Miss Virginia McVey assisted Mrs. McVey in entertaining the young guests who were all under nine years of age. An Easter egg hunt was a feature of the entertainment. Several of the older children of the faculty members assisted Mrs. McVey. They were Miss Ruth Averitt, Betty Boyd, Betty Bassett, Betty Dimock, Marian Tinney, Jane Allen Wells, Mary Dantzier, Ann Jones, Katherine Nollau.

Alumni Club Dance

The Lexington Alumni Club entertained with its annual dance Monday night at the Men's gymnasium. The music for the six no-breaks was furnished by the Rhythm Kings orchestra.
About a hundred guests were present.

ENGAGEMENTS

Roberts-Lamb

The engagement of Miss Neolia Roberts, of Lexington, to Mr. J. Chalmers Lamb, has been announced. Miss Roberts is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Roberts and was graduated from the University. She is a member of the Kappa Delta sorority.

Mr. Lamb is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lamb, of Franklin, Ky., and is a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University. The date for the wedding has been set for June.

Smith-Rothenstein

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Judson Smith announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Kennard, to Mr. Maurice Rothenstein, of London and Far Oakridge, Gloucestershire, England.

Miss Smith was graduated in the class of 1928 from the College of Arts and Sciences. While in school she was prominent in student activities, and was also a member of the Arts Students League in New York. She is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma, social sorority.

Mr. Rothenstein was a member of the faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University last year, and has made many friends in Lexington. The date for the marriage has not been announced.

Now Finds Sad World Young Again

DREAMS THAT COME TRUE
I am sitting alone in my room tonight,
Dreaming and smoking my old cob
pipe:
I smoke and dream, and dream until
I get a plot, and get a thrill.
I am in the writing game, you see;
And the pipe-dreams softly bring to me
Scenes of carnage where the red blood ran,
And the dreams all come from a bright
Blue can.

It's just a can of Edgeworth's—
Fragrant as flowers—sweet as a nut;
Of all Fate's kindly gifts to man
Is this gift of dreams from the bright
Blue can.
I sit me down at eve, to smoke;
And soon am wrapped in a magic cloak;
It has banished trouble, it has banished
pain,
And the sad old world is young again.

BLUE RIDGE

Within a few weeks, students of the University will turn to thoughts of a summer vacation. They will seek that place which offers the best of recreation, rest, fellowship and those satisfying experiences dear to vacation days. Naturally, the student asks where all of these things may be found. The Kernel suggests that Blue Ridge is the place to satisfy all of the requirements.

It is located in the heart of the rugged mountains of North Carolina. It stands at an elevation of twenty-seven hundred feet above sea level in the midst of hundreds of acres of virgin forest. Among the many things to be found upon its grounds library, garage, athletic field, tennis and volleyball courts, a swimming and boating lake, miles of rhododendron and laurel bordering trails for hiking and horseback riding. Everyone of the fifty thousand people who have visited this wonder spot during the past sixteen years have come away singing praises of it. They know in their hearts that it is a wonderful vacation place.

With all of its charm and loveliness, Blue Ridge cannot be catalogued, for it is born of the clean, rare air of the hills, of the freedom of great mountains, cool summer breezes and rippling waters. If the student is seeking for something more than beauty and comfort, Blue Ridge has something in addition to offer. Many of America's outstanding religious leaders are on the grounds during the summer to epitomize religious activities and the happy privilege of the joy of living. Such inspiring leaders as Dr. W. D. Weatherford, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick and Dr. J. M. Culbreth will make the coming summer worth while and enjoyable.

From present indications, one hundred schools and colleges will be represented this summer. Several institutions report that they will have unusually large delegations. The total number of those present will be near five hundred. Meeting such a number of students from colleges of ten Southern states, getting personally acquainted with some of the world's greatest speakers, thinkers and denominational leaders, together with ten days of play, is an experience that should leave a lasting impression of the summer's vacation.

The Kernel feels that Blue Ridge will be a place of inspiration this summer. A splendid program has been arranged which will offer the student unusual opportunities for self expression in regard to the racial situation, industrial problems and international relations. The conference has come to be a "Southern intercollegiate meet" where students participate in all of the events. It follows that everyone should have an enjoyable time amid the rugged mountains of North Carolina when the conference season opens in June.

THE REGISTRAR INSTITUTE

The seventh annual institute for registrars, which is being held at the University this week for the purpose of promoting efficiency in the registration departments of Southern universities, will close tomorrow.

College presidents, deans, registrars and graduate students come to the University each year to attend the meeting and discuss problems of administration and registration. Their efforts result in innumerable benefits to modern educational processes.

One of the largest single units in any university is the registrar's department where all student records are kept. Many problems are encountered in the administration of these duties. They are solved by the annual institute.

The Kernel is in full accord with the ends sought by the institute. Its service to University officials is high. The delegates who are here are to be praised, for they are taking part in the greatest work in the world. They are promoting education and the advancement of civilization, for the two march together. The Kernel hopes they have enjoyed their visit to the University and that they will look forward with pleasure to the convention next year. It is certain that the University will await the eighth annual institute with a greater degree of appreciation than has heretofore been expressed.

KENTUCKY ON THE AIR

The University of Kentucky now takes its place on the air. In addresses by those who are authorities on various subjects, the work of extension is carried forward. The extension work is as important as any to which the University devotes itself. Its fundamental purpose is, of course, the instruction in classrooms of the enrolled students. But the University would be neglecting a splendid opportunity if it ended its usefulness in the classroom. In a larger sense the University must act as an instructor for the state at large. It has upon its faculty those who have spent much time in research upon important subjects. What they learn will be transmitted freely to the people of Kentucky and the radio tie-up is another avenue for extending this activity. The use of the radio also will give to the University a closer touch with the people of Kentucky, which is greatly to be desired.—Lexington Herald.

COLLEGE COMMENT

Last semester a lip reading class was started at the University of Nebraska for students who were hard of hearing or totally deaf. The course has proved so popular that students with perfect hearing are enrolling for the course.

Georgia Tech received $76,000 as her part in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena New Year's Day. A good football team pays, and pays, and pays.

A group of non-fraternity men at Northwestern University have banded together for the purpose of weakening fraternity politics on their campus. It takes like to combat like.

Johnny Bricks, varsity football man at Wittenberg College, recently declared there were 19 letters in the alphabet. Another prominent student and a lady faculty member of the college said the alphabet contained 24 letters. Now you guess.

Two active members comprise the new law sorority, Kappa Beta Pi, which was organized by the women law students at Iowa State recently. Rather exclusive, eh?

The co-eds at Waynesburg College have revolted, and this year's prom is to be held without men; half of the girls are to appear in male attire. It all happened because some of the boys at the college brought "outside" girls to college affairs.

It now seems the honor system is a failure in American colleges. The Yale student council has finally convinced the faculty that the honor system cannot be enforced under the social and educational conditions which now exist at that university. At Amherst, upon the request of students, the system was dropped after being in effect for 23 years, and at Harvard the proposal to introduce the system was rejected.

William Cullen Bryant Kempt, perpetual student at Columbia University, is dead. Kempt, who was 78 years old when he died, was a freshman at Columbia University in New York City in 1868, three years after the close of the Civil War. He continued in college the rest of his life because a relative left him $2,500 a year. He had three B. S. degrees, M. D., A. B., A. M., LL. M., LL. B., Ph. D., C. E. D., D. M. E., E. M., Ph. D., Chem., degrees and he had one degree not listed in the catalogues, D. P. M. (Doctor of Perpetual Motion).

A senior at Auburn has invented and recently received a patent for an attachment for a portable phonograph which will enable it to be played in any position.

THE MORNING STAR

When the brilliant diamonds of the night
Begin to fade into the mists of morn,
One lone star so bright
That it pierces through out the haze,
Shines from out the sky
Upon the slumbering world below.
With gladness from on high
Merrily it twinkles on
Until the glory of the rising sun
Chases all the shades away.
It then departs from view—
Its duty done.

—VIRGINIA MEACHAM

FROM D'ANNUNZIO'S "GIOCONDA"

(Lucia to Silvia)
Dear hands I loved,
From thee, whose fingertips
Life came again to me,
You haunt me yet.

Those beautiful hands
Whose fluttering was like a white moth caught by the cruel love flame.

That day I tried to create again
Your hands in the clay.
I could only see them crushed—
A sacrifice to love.

Dear ghost hands,
I love you more than love,
I need your hypnotizing caress.
But you are gone—
A priceless offering to love.

Music, Stage and Screen

By Edwards M. Templin

Strollers

The most attractive dramatic presentation for this week is "Square Crooks," a comedy-mystery play by James P. Judge, which opened last night at the Guignol theater for a three-day run. This is the seven-teenth annual spring production of Strollers, student dramatic organization, and their presentation of the play is highly entertaining.

Strand, Today and Tomorrow
"Hit of the Show," a drama that will live along with "Variety" and "He Who Gets Slapped," opened yesterday at the Strand theater. It is a soul-stirring masterpiece that wipes away the make-up that hides the feelings of the people on the stage and proves them human like the rest of us. The heart rending story of a stage comedian who has struggled for fifteen years to reach Broadway and success forms the nucleus for the next little picture.

Joe E. Brown, the star of the production, portrays the role of a song and dance man, who after struggling for years to gain success, at last secures a big part in a New York show. Finally his part in the show is cut down to practically nothing and the trouper pitifully sees the dream of fame fade away forever. We dare not tell you all of the story here, but we assure you this picture carries with it a powerful "wallop" in real drama and expert acting. Gertrude Olmstead, lead while Gertrude Astor scores in the role of a would-be tough boarding-house keeper.

Don't miss the "Hit of the Show." This production will convince you of the loyalty of the little dancer who "had to make the grade." Fox Movietone and Silent News, along with Movietone acts, furnish the remainder of the entertainment for this bill.

Strand Next Week
"The Awakening" will be offered at the Strand theater the first half of next week. Vilma Banky appears in this picture in her first starring vehicle. Her most recent appearances have been in the "Night of Magic Flame" and "Dark Angel," with her superb co-star, Ronald Coleman.

This picture is a stirring love story with thrills of breath taking magnitude. Drama that spellbinds is portrayed in this spectacular production of color and gayety. Interest of this movie centers about the love story of an innocent girl whose dazzling beauty captivates an officer of high rank who has loved many women. It is a real romance studded with the kisses of a past master at the game of hearts. Its drama rides apace with its wonderful love portrayal. Synchronization with sound effects and music are presented through the Movietone.

United Artists, makers of this picture, announce that Walter Byron, considered one of the handsomest men on the screen, has been selected as the new leading man in Miss Banky's succeeding pictures. Movietone news, and Fox Silent News rounds out this program.

Ben All Today and Tomorrow
The thrill of the race track, with thoroughbred horse flesh pounding the turf; a jockey riding for honor and love; a maiden praying for his success, are all carried home to you in "Silks and Saddles" playing at the Ben All the last part of this week. A deft and skillful combination of romance, comedy, pathos, and action is employed to make this picture a headliner on any theatrical bill. This pictureization of the "Sport of Kings" brings an overwhelming thrill to the heart of every true Kentuckian.

"Silks and Saddles" is the story of a young jockey who is induced to "throw" an important race he is expected to win, through the influence of a beautiful adventuress. He is found out and disgraced, but through the unflinching efforts of his former sweetheart, whom he has deserted, he is given another chance. Did he take the chance? Well, you find out.

Anyway, some of the most thrilling scenes of racing horses ever filmed appear in this picture. Marion Nixon, who plays her first starring role in "Silks and Saddles," and Richard Walling carry to its climax the romantic feature of the picture. Mary Nolan enacts the role of the glittering accomplice and Otis Harlan shines in the comedy role. Others in the company are Sam DeGrasse, Montague Love, Claire MacDowell, David Torrence, Johnny Fox, Jr., and Hayden Stevenson.

If you like to hear the thud of the racing thoroughbreds as they dash neck and neck under the wire you will be sure to like this picture. Seeman Players appear in "The Big Idea," a comedy, and the remainder of the program is com-

ATTENTION, SORORITIES, FRATERNITIES

I have for sale on East Maxwell street, an attractive, two-story modern brick home of ten (10) rooms and two complete baths; extra large well lighted attic; hot water heating plant, large veranda, two-car garage. The saving of one's heat bill over a gas-heated house would be from $30 to $40 per month. Nice lot, attractive shrubbery.

I have another two-story brick house in Aylesford with nine (9) rooms, two baths, hot air furnace, large lot. Price, $10,500.

This office is in a position to finance either of these places, provided the purchaser has a reasonable amount in cash, payments to be made in monthly, or semi-annual installments over a period of from five to fifteen years. For further information call 3050-Y.

PROF. J. B. KELLY INSPECTS FARMS

Engineering Section Head to Study Electrification of Rural Districts in Ohio by Survey.

Prof. J. B. Kelly, head of the farm engineering section of the University experiment station, is going to Ohio to study the electrification of farms near Maryville, Ohio. His trip came as a result of interest in the use of electricity shown by both farmers and utilities companies in Kentucky.

Thirteen farms are being served by a power line six miles long running out of Maryville. Nine other farms can be added without extending the line. The line cost $1,383 a mile, including transformers paid for by the power company.

The total cost of installing electricity on the farms, which means wiring the house and other buildings, ranged from $346 to $469 per farm, paid by the farm owners.

The farms, which are devoted to livestock raising and dairying, range from 100 acres to 197 acres. Electricity is used to light the houses, barns, farm buildings, and yards. It is also used to operate household equipment, and to run motors to drive milking machines, grinders.

Conquering the Cascades

SNOW falls every month in the year where the Great Northern crosses the Cascades. Steep, tortuous grades increase the difficulty of the railroading problem. Nature has stubbornly resisted man's effort to conquer the range.

In January, 1929, the new Cascade tunnel was opened. Man, with electricity as an ally, had conquered the Cascades.

The eight-mile bore was driven in three years—a record impossible without electric power. And electrification has been extended to the entire 75-mile route through the mountains.

The conquests of electricity on the land and on the sea, in the air, and underground, are making practicable the impossibilities of yesterday. As our vision encompasses wider horizons, electricity appears as a vital contribution to future industrial progress and human welfare.

Comparatively few original ideas are ever invented by the student body of this institution. Instead of exerting initiative and originality by "starting" things we are content to passively await the time when we can indorse and approve the ideas that have been promulgated and developed on other campuses. However, the modern epoch of radio and television enables us to acquire first-hand information of the events of the entire college world. Because of this revision of communication it took Kentucky only about a quarter of a century to learn that in almost all large colleges and universities there is an annual event which functions under the nomen of the "Junior Prom."

As a result of this bit of information that has trickled into the Blue Grass State, the first Junior Prom of the University will be initiated tonight by such a colorful spectacle of court splendor that is expected to cause Louis XIV to do a somersault in his 1715 model "wooden overcoat." The entire student body will pay homage and fealty to a pretty "Queen" who will be "crowned" ere the moon passeth. Just who will officiate at the coronation has not been made public, but it is definitely certain that loyal subjects will emanate from the four corners of her kingdom with the fond hopes and expectations that Her Highness will descend from her lofty throne and dip her royal socks in their coffee—which is an ancient Bulgarian custom.

The following is an excerpt from the will of a rich jeweler which has recently been probated in New York state:

1. To my son, I leave the pleasure of earning a living. For 33 years he has thought that the pleasure was mine. He was mistaken.

2. To my daughter, I leave $100,000. She will need it. The only good piece of business her husband ever did was to marry her.

3. To my valet, I leave the clothes that he has been stealing from me regularly for the past ten years. Also my fur coat that he wore last winter while I was in Palm Beach.

4. To my chauffeur, I leave my cars. He almost ruined them while I was living and I want him to have the satisfaction of finishing the job.

5. To my partner, I leave the suggestion that he take some other clever man in with him at once if he expects to do any business.

The bell rang. Slowly he rose to his feet and shook his clinched fist at the smiling blue sky. The sun shone brightly and the birds sang blithely. For all the rest of the world there was laughter, happiness and pleasure, but not for him. The world lay as a broken toy at his feet. His thoughts were heavy laden. All was dismal. There was no justice. For the first time this semester he had come to class prepared and the professor had "cut."

Most of us can remember when a girl's dress cost a whole lot less and covered a whole lot more.

I have been learning magic by correspondence. After the third lesson I turned my Chevrolet into a lamp-post.

Scotland's new national anthem: "The Best Things in Life are Free."

Let me live in the roadhouse by the side of the road and be a friend to the chorus girls.

Dr. James Kendall Is Heard by Local Chemical Society

Dr. James Kendall, professor of Physical Chemistry of the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, spoke to the American Chemical Society at 4 p. m. Tuesday, April 2, in the Organic Chemistry room of Kastle Hall. His subject was "The Abuse of Water."

Professor Kendall is a native of Surrey, England. He came to the United States in 1913 and now makes his home in New York City. He received his B. S., M. A., and D. S. degrees from Edinburgh University, and also attended the Nobel Institute, the Stockholm Technical Institute and the University of Petrograd. Since then he has been connected with Stanford University, the University of California, Columbia University, and Washington Square College, a part of New York University.

A dinner was given in Dr. Kendall's honor, and he went from here to Cincinnati. He will complete his tour at Charleston, W. Va.

'Y' CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD AT BLUE RIDGE, N. C.

University Delegates From Ten Southern States to Attend Meet

CAMP IS LOCATED IN MOUNTAINOUS REGION

Students Will Get Acquainted With Some of World's Greatest Thinkers

The Southern Students Conference of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at Blue Ridge, North Carolina, from June 14 to 24, with the Blue Ridge Association as hosts, according to a recent announcement from the local Y. M. C. A. officers. To this conference will come representatives of every type of college in the region, including State colleges, technical schools, medical, dental, law, theological, and other professional and denominational schools, independent colleges and universities. The conference draws delegates from ten Southern states, including on the north Virginia and Kentucky, and on the west runs to the Mississippi river, but includes also Louisiana.

Until 1911 the conferences were held in a number of places in or near the mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee. In 1912 the Blue Ridge Association opened its doors and was dedicated to its career of service to the South, by the conferences of the college Y. M. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. Since that year this spot has become a sort of shrine for the students of the South.

If present interest is an indication of the number of delegates who will be at Blue Ridge this summer, it is fair to predict that at least 100 schools and colleges will be represented. Several colleges from different states report that they will have unusually large delegations.

The conference is a definite part of the year's program of every local student Y. M. C. A. There the administration of the retiring student officers closes with an account of its achievements. Then also the new administration of the elected officers begins with the training of the new student leaders and the laying of definite plans for the coming year.

Meeting five hundred of the choicest students from colleges of ten Southern states, getting personally acquainted with some of the world's greatest thinkers and speakers and representative denominational leaders, and together with this company working and playing and thinking for ten days is an experience that will leave a lasting impression on the life of students who attend.

PROFESSOR WEBB TO LECTURE

The monthly meeting of the Pre-Medical Society will be held in the Science building Thursday night, April 11, at 7:30 o'clock. Professor Webb, head of the department of physics, will speak on Kentucky Archeology.

Y. W. C. A. Election Will Be Wednesday

Three Ballot Boxes Will Be Open on Campus From 9 to 4 o'Clock

The University Y. W. C. A. will hold its annual election Wednesday, April 10. Three boxes will be placed on the campus from 9 to 4 o'clock at McVey hall, the Administration building, and the Boyd hall office. The results, according to the usual custom, will be announced at the woman's annual banquet Thursday, April 11.

The nominating committee, which is composed of the members of the cabinet who are seniors, have presented the following nominees:

President: Alice Spaulding, Bernice Byland; secretary: Elizabeth Hensey, Christine Blakeman; treasurer: Elizabeth Cramer, Evelyn Cooley; finance chairman: Annette Newlin, Rosana Ruttencutter, Eleanor Swearingen.

The new cabinet, together with this year's cabinet, will hold a camp training conference at Camp Daniel Boone, May 10, 11, and 12, with the installation of new officers the following week.

The retiring officers are: President, Margaret Gooch; vice president, Elsie Bureau; secretary, Evelyn Cooley; treasurer, Dora Mae Duncan, and finance chairman, Gardner Whittinghill.

Mild, yes, but there's no Scotch in the flavor!

A well known golf pro recently returned from a vacation in Glasgow, his home town, relates a current golf magazine. "Well," he was asked, "how did the boys treat you back home?" "Verra reluctantly!" said he. Well might some smokers likewise reply if asked about their cigarette, we imagine. Mild, of course (most cigarettes are, today), but "verra reluctant" when it comes to delivering taste and body and character.

Chesterfields were blended to supply just that "body" which so many "mild" cigarettes lack. For in addition to that desirable blandness there is a distinct "edge" to its smooth, mellow flavor which is just what the smoke appetite craves. Mild—yes; just that mildness which everyone wants—but something more, something plus—character! The character that makes Chesterfields par for cigarettes. They satisfy!

Hitch-Hiking May Be Abolished Soon

NEW YORK, N. Y.—(New Student Service)—Some jokers in the New Hampshire legislature has proposed a license fee for hitch-hikers, amounting to $5.50 per person. According to newspaper reports, another measure was also proposed that would require them to display two headlights and a tail light when traveling at night.

No cause for laughter is contained in the pending Pennsylvania bill, however. It follows the example of New Jersey in forbidding this most pleasant and diverting form of travel.

"When it becomes a crime," complains The Dickinsonian, student newspaper of Dickinson College, "for a clean-cut, intelligent, honest college boy to ask a passing motorist for the means to get to his home and parents during a brief vacation period, then it is time to question the discretion of legislative bodies."

PI KAPPA ALPHA WINS NET CROWN

Fraternity Beats Alpha Sigma Phi by Count of 23-15 for Intra-mural Basketball Title Wednesday Night.

After trailing 8 to 4 at the half, the Pi Kappa Alpha Indians staged a pow wow in the second half and scalped Alpha Sigma Phi, 23 to 15 to win the intra-mural basketball championship of the University in the tournament finals Wednesday night. The Alpha Sigs fought a losing fight from the opening of the final period and soon lost the six point lead donated by Williams with a short field goal.

Hoffman was the big chief who led the Pi Kaps to victory, scoring 15 points. Chief Hoffman made seven field goals and a free throw despite the efforts of the Alpha Sig guards to smother him. The Alpha Sigs attempted a delayed passing attack but it was tardy and the Indians went on the war path for a succession of crisp shots near the end of the game.

The score was tied during the greater part of the first half but in the second quarter a pretty field goal by Williams and free throws by Wilson and Day put the Alpha Sigs into a four point lead. Williams increased the lead at the second half but the medicine man had rejuvenated the Indians during the intermission and at the beginning of the last quarter the score had been through an evolution which left it 13 to 10 for the Pi Kap Indians.

The last quarter was owned and operated by the braves from Rose and Maxwell streets. The lanky warriors tommy-hawked a path to the goal and paid homage with 12 points while the white men could only raise 5.

PROPERTY IS LEASED BY JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.

NEW YORK CITY. — John D. Rockefeller Jr., has leased from Columbia University three blocks of property for 87 years at a total of $261,000,000 for that period. Mr. Rockefeller intends this as a new home for the Metropolitan Opera. Tentative plans call for a 200 foot plaza with the opera house on one side and structures for hotels, shops, etc., on the other.

Among other suggestions is a device for a balcony which would run along the second stories of the business buildings, making the shops on the second floor likewise desirable. This would be the first attempt at the much discussed double-decker streets. Incidentally, Mr. Otto H. Kahn urges that the opera house be built with more inexpensive seats.

GILB HAS EVENTFUL CAREER AT U. K.

Wildcat Star Has Played in Many Different Positions During Athletic Career

By Bill Campbell

Athletes may come and athletes may go, but where versatility is concerned there can never be another like "Baldy" Gilb. As a general utility man, this Wildcat star need acknowledge no superior, for wherever he has played he has played well.

Christened "Elmer" by his parents but soon receiving the appellation of "Baldy," Gilb began his athletic activity in high school at Newport, Ky. His athletic career at the University has been a varied but fascinating one. He has always been a three-sport man but, strange as it may seem, he has never played the same position in the same sport twice.

In his freshman year he played guard on the football team, guard on the basketball team, and third base on the baseball team. In his sophomore year at Kentucky, he performed as an end on the grid team, forward on the basketball squad, and as a shortstop on Coach Devereaux's nine.

Gilb was shifted to the fullback post by Coach Hargrave the following year. He was used as general utility man on the hardwood outfit and with the appearance of another spring became guardian of the key-stone sack for Coach Major and was the pivot man of the fast double-play combination of Jeffries to Gilb to Cole. His potent war club earned him second place in the ace for batting honors of the season.

Playing his final year in the Blue and White of Kentucky, Baldy called signals on the football team and was the most consistent ground-gainer on the squad. Next came the net season and Gilb was pushed down to the sub list, but he never stopped fighting. When the baseball season opens next month, Gilb, the captain, is sure to be in the opening lineup some place. Maybe he will occupy each of the nine positions for at least one inning as a further proof of his versatility.

It was a lucky day for old Kentucky last fall when he beat her ancient rival, Washington and Lee, by a score of 6 to 0, but it was a lucky day for Elmer Gilb, then the star quarterback on the victorious team. He had been playing the grand old game of football for six years and had never before made a touchdown. But in this game he broke into the scoring column with a bang. It was Kentucky's only score, but Baldy made it.

Back in 1926 in the Centre game of that year, Gilb had been prevented from making his first score by a matter of inches. If his attempt had been successful it would have been the tying or possibly the winning score. But Fate was still unkind to the doughty warrior. It happened this way:

Jenkins, famous for his forward passes, had dropped back to throw the pigskin to either of the two ends, Schulte or Gilb, with only a few minutes remaining in which to play. As soon as Jim Pence had spiraled the oval back to Jenkins, waiting hands, Knuckles, powerful Colonel tackle, was across the line of scrimmage and after the passer like a hound dog after a hog jowl.

In the meantime, Gilb was rushing madly over the goal line with arms extended skyward. But it was all in vain. Jenkins, ever accurate, had been rushed too much and the ball, instead of falling in Baldy's arms, just grazed his fingertips and went down in the books as another incomplete forward pass.

Gilb has given us a great lesson in perseverance, playing three years in high school, three years in college, and a part of the fourth before finally making a touchdown. But, oh, what a touchdown it was. As an added feature to Gilb's eventful career, we could cite the incident of the Maryland-Kentucky basketball game last year in Annapolis. Baldy had spent a major portion of the season in a choice spot on the reserve bench. But when Kentucky went East on a disastrous trip, this sub became the hero. Maryland handed the Wildcats a 35 to 7 setback, limiting the Kentuckians to one field—but this was made by Gilb. For one whose list of field goals was limited and whose scoring prowess was negligible, this was indeed an accomplishment and worthy of such a hard fighter.

MANY PROBLEMS TO BE STRESSED AT BLUE RIDGE

Students Are Concerned With Relation Between Jesus and Real Things

DAILY PROGRAM HAS VARIETY OF EVENTS

Discussions to Involve Racial, Industrial, International Relations Problems

It was the opinion of the group, which met at Knoxville, Tenn., in December to plan the Y. M. C. A. Blue Ridge conference for June 5-14, that the two main things that the students on the whole are concerned about are "understanding ourselves" and an understanding of Jesus in relation to real things in life.

The committee had letters from a number of associations and these two things were mentioned over and along with suggestions that we need more help on the racial situation, industrial problems and international relations. As we tried to frame the theme of the conference, we found ourselves using such phrases as "growth toward an understanding of God," a "growing personality," "discovery of rich and full life," "persons in the process of becoming," etc. There seemed to be no question but personality development. We say that in three main lines running through the conference. These are not new: An understanding of myself; an understanding of myself in relation to others; an understanding of myself as a part of the life of the Universe, or God. In these three areas we thought the approach might be on the blocks in our growth, things that thwart us and ways of overcoming these.

The daily program may look like this:
7:30 a. m.—Breakfast.
8:30 a. m.—Worship.
9:00 a. m.—Platform hour. Development of personality of Jesus.
9:30 a. m.—Platform hour. First four days on understanding ourselves, followed by interest groups on men and women, personality development, family, religious perplexities or the integration of self in relation to God.
10:30 a. m.—Interest groups on race, industry, international relations, Bible study.
11:45 a. m.—Workshop hour.
12:45 p. m.—Lunch. Afternoon free for rest, recreation, interviews, etc.
5:00 p. m.—Appreciation hour, or studio hour. Optional.
6:45 or 7:00 p. m.—Step singing, pageants, etc.
7:30 p. m.—Evening platform hour. First evening, orientation on "Why We Are Here," and a general outline of the programs. Second evening, introduction of the series on Jesus. Third through sixth evenings, series of studies on resources for growth and development, such as books, hobbies, use of leisure time, etc., and on Sunday the morning sermon to be on the place of God in life, with relation to the growth of individual personality and in larger and richer social relationships. Seventh evening, race and industry. Eighth evening, international relations. Ninth evening, closing ceremonial.

We saw the approaches of all these evening meetings hanging around two main points: Ways in which the fullest and finest growth of persons is being thwarted and ways in which this growth could be made possible. With this foundation, we feel that there can be a very conscious and real holding together of the entire program. Speakers have not been definitely decided upon, but several names for speakers and leaders have been suggested such as:
Miss Anne Susholtz, from the educational department of the national Y. M. C. A.; Miss Eleanor Copenhauer, from the industrial department of the national Y. W. C. A.; Miss Josephine Little and Miss Stella Searlock, from the national Y. W. C. A. headquarters.

Intra-mural Free Throw Tournament Opens Wednesday

Artists who perform behind the little mark called the free throw line will be given an opportunity to demonstrate their prowess in the annual intra-mural "free throw" tournament which will begin next Wednesday, April 10, according to announcement by M. E. Potter, director of intra-mural sports.

All entry lists for the tournament must be handed to Coach Potter by Tuesday, April 9. Each team will be composed of eight men who will take 50 throws each. The average of the highest six men will be taken to determine the winning team. Cups will be presented to the winning team and to the individual high scorer.

Intra-mural tennis will begin within the next two weeks, Coach Potter said. Fraternities are requested to begin lining up their tennis material.

Poor Girls Are Given Party at Blue Ridge Meet

At the Blue Ridge Conference last June the Kentucky and North Carolina delegates to the Boys' Conference, in accord with the usual hospitality of these states, gave a party in honor of the P. W. G.'s (poor working girls). The Kentucky cottage was selected as the basis for the frivolity and fun. A similar party will be a feature of this year's conference.

The cottage was gorgeously decorated in the colors of Kentucky, Berea, Duke, U. N. C., N. C. State, and a few others. Pennants from all the different schools were attractively placed on the walls of the cottage. The P. W. G.'s, with their escorts were made to feel as much at home as possible amid the overhanging decorations and chaperones.

Soon after the guests had arrived the fun of the evening began, headed up by Liston Pope of Duke, and Phil Aswerus of Kentucky. Weir singing was one of the features. From one section of the rugged mountain woods near the cottage came the enchanting words of Ramona.

When they died down, their echo began to come forth, much to everyone's surprise. Mr. Hill, of Alabama, and Mr. Wulfeck, treasurer of the conference, were the perpetrators of this weird act, answering each other's words at a distance, resembling an echo.

Boys and Girls Work at Camp During Summer

At Blue Ridge each summer a certain number of girls and boys are employed to work in the dining hall, offices, and cottages. These girls and boys are a select group, representing the best to be found in the colleges of the South, and it is nothing unusual to find a girl or boy wearing a Phi Beta Kappa or Phi Kappa Phi key working in the dining hall or sweeping up the rooms.

The Southern Y. M. C. A. college students have first choice of positions for work at Blue Ridge during the summer, and after as many of them as desire to accept work, then the remaining positions are allotted among the other Southern colleges. Kentucky has had several men to attend the Blue Ridge Conference and work as P. W. B.'s.

The P. W. G.'s (poor working girls), and P. W. B.'s (poor working boys), are organized and have their regular initiation each year to take in new members. Those who go to Blue Ridge and who do not belong to the organization see that they are missing something worthwhile, even though circumstances prevent them from being members.

There are many different tasks performed by the P. W. G.'s and P. W. B.'s at Blue Ridge. Besides working in the dining hall, kitchen, and cottages, some as lobby boys in the main building known as Robert E. Lee Hall, others as gatekeepers at the entrance to the grounds, others as life-guards at the lake, and some in the laundry. It is to be remembered that while all this is going on the P. W. G.'s and P. W. B.'s are going to school, which, of course, is their main reason

GUIGNOL WILL PRESENT FIFTH PLAY, APRIL 29

"The Flight of the Duchess" Is Translated From the Italian

AN ELABORATE STAGE SET WILL BE BUILT

Frank C. Fowler Will Direct Production; Large Cast Is Announced

By Melvina Pumphrey

For the fifth production of the year the Guignol theater players will offer the dramatization of Robert Browning's poem, "The Flight of the Duchess." It will open on April 29 for a week's run. The play which was adapted from the famous poem by Ludovico Camoletti, has been translated from the Italian by Prof. W. F. Galloway of the English department especially for the use of the Guignol. It consists of a prologue and three acts and includes a large cast.

The main stage set represents the great hall of Castle Lavenburg in Germany with minor alterations introduced during the action, which, together with the costumes, will give a picturesque atmosphere new to the Guignol offerings.

Director Frank C. Fowler, who has already firmly established his reputation on the campus through his competent handling of the theater's previous productions, will undoubtedly add a new star to his crown with the presentation of this difficult drama.

The cast for the play is announced as follows: The Archbishop, S. K. Workman, instructor in the English department; the roles of Conrad and Mateo will be given to Melvin Nollau, senior engineer, and Jack Ramey, arts and sciences sophomore, though it has not been decided which will have each part; Simenetta, Carolyn Speyer, of Lexington, known for her performance in "The Cassilis Engagement"; Angelica, Jeannette Kimberlin, arts and sciences, who gave such a notable characterization in "Gioconda"; Maître Robert, John Noonon, a Sigma Nu and freshman engineer; Rudolph, Verna Law, a freshman who has repeatedly appeared in campus theatricals with much credit; Jacquette, Alice Spaulding, Zeta Tau, also well known to local audiences; Master Hyacinthus, Martin Glenn, Delta Chi; Duchess Urrula, Marion Galloway, of Lexington, who is one of Mr. Fowler's "finds" of the season; Duke Ulrich, Prof. George K. Brady, of the English department, and who has had much experience in amateur dramatics; Margot, Floy Chancellor of Hardinsburg; Duchess Ise, Margaret Lewis, of the campus Y. W. C. A., who has creditably appeared in Guignol productions in the past; Leonardo, William Pearce, a freshman from Mott, N. D.; Ramon, William Durbeck, Phi Kappa Alpha; Rozanna, Katherine Davis, of Lexington, an Alpha Xi; Esther, Helen Moore, arts and sciences senior; Lucia, Louisa Dudley, arts and sciences senior; Claire, Garnett Shouse, Tri Delta, arts and sciences sophomore; Duke of Berg, William Pearce; Duke of Gelderland, J. C. Lamb, arts and sciences senior; Baron Hildesheim, either Ramey or Nollau; Baroness Ratzburg, Katherine Davis; Baron Kammier, William Durbeck, and Count Hoya, Richard Carran, first year law student.

Dr. Reeves Delivers Concluding Lecture

Teacher Training Series Terminated With Educational Guidance Discussion

Dr. Reeves, professor of education at the University and head of the bureau of school service, delivered his sixth and concluding special lecture on "Diagnosis, Immediate Instructions and Educational Guidance," last night at 6:30 o'clock in McVey hall.

Dr. Reeves emphatically stressed that "Regardless of the care which the educational institution may take in its actions upon students, the fact still remains that students who obtain admission not because of proper preparatory work, not because they are intelligent, not because of intellectual traits, or other reasons, have great difficulty in their college work."

"Some of the most important reasons of their failure are: (A) Lack of intelligence; (B) character defects, including lack of determination and purpose; (C) temperamental defects; (D) outside demands including those of social, natural and wholly for monetary reward; (E) poor studying habits; (F) poor high school preparation; (G) wrong ideas concerning college life."

"It has been demonstrated that poor reading habits constitutes many reasons why college students fail. Colleges and universities of the United States are working diligently upon the problem of salvaging the largest number of students from the disaster of scholastic failure."

PREMIERE OF "SQUARE CROOKS" IS BIG SUCCESS

Conspicuous among the assets of the play are the stellar performances of Ruth Bonnin and Andrew Hoover as Kay and Eddie Ellison. Miss Bonnin, Alpha Gamma Delta, gives a vivid characterization of the vivacious and beautiful Kay. Her versatility is seen when she changes from being lovable and sympathetic toward Eddie to remonstrate with him for his reckless disregard of his "h's" and his weakness for sleep.

Andrew Hoover, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, carries off the honors with Miss Bonnin. He proved his ability in "The Dagger," a Guignol production, and his excellent portrayal of Eddie stamps him for future success. His interpretation of the nonchalant Eddie is a treat for any lover of good drama.

Verna Law typifies perfectly the Irish landlady, and furnishes much of the humor of the play. Miss Law's appearance in Guignol productions have marked her as an outstanding actress, and as Bridget O'Rourke she gives another brilliant characterization.

Alice Spaulding, Zeta Tau Alpha, known for her charming interpretations in Roman and Guignol plays, gives a finished performance as Jane Brown.

The role of Larry Scott is capably taken by Leonard Weakley, Delta Tau Delta. This young man has also been outstanding in former Stroller plays, having taken leading roles in "The Truth About Blayds" and "Duke."

Earl Cella, Kappa Sigma, looks and acts perfectly the role of Mike Ross, the hard-boiled gunman, who is at the root of the trouble in the comedy.

Ann Caywood Talbot, Chi Omega, gives a delightful interpretation of Sorrow, Mrs. O'Rourke's maid. Miss Talbot handles the comedy of the play in an exceptional manner.

Roy Owsley, Delta Tau Delta, is very realistic as Timothy Hogan, the Irish police sergeant, who divides his time between his duty and the O'Rourke boarding house.

Walter Jones, Phi Delta Theta, impersonates in a vivid manner the flagrant detective, Harry Welch. James Dorman, Kappa Sigma, is effective as John Clancy, his aide.

Carolyn Latta, Delta Delta Delta, gives a realistic portrayal of Mrs. Philip Carston, society leader and owner of the lost pearls. Dorothy Jones will take the part of Mrs. Philip Carston at the Saturday presentation.

"Square Crooks" was well received in southeastern Kentucky where Strollers made a successful tour last week-end.

PSYCHOLOGISTS HOLD MEETING

Twenty-fourth Annual Meeting of Southern Society of Philosophy and Psychology Convened at U. of K.

The twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Southern Society of Philosophy and Psychology, originally scheduled to be held at the University of Missouri, was held at the University of Kentucky, Friday and Saturday, March 29 and 30, in the lecture room of McVey hall. About 150 scientists from every part of the South were present.

The program began Friday morning at 8:30 with an address of welcome by President Frank L. McVey, which was followed by various discussions of psychological problems. The rest of the program on Friday consisted of a reception at Maxwell Place in the afternoon, and a banquet at 6:30 in the evening in the gold room of the Lafayette. Other addresses were given and a council meeting was held. The program on Saturday included as a special feature a trip through points of interest in the Blue Grass.

The most talked-of speaker of the entire session was Dr. Max Meyer, who was recently ousted from the University of Missouri because of a controversy over a sex questionnaire. Dr. Meyer refused to discuss the situation and confined his talk to technical lines, but his standing among his colleagues was vindicated when he was elected president of the society at the business meeting Saturday morning.

Other speakers on the program included Dr. J. C. Barnes, Maryville College; Dr. Noel B. Cuff, Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College; Dean Hilda Threlkeld, Hamilton College; C. R. Griffith, University of Illinois; L. H. Lanier, Vanderbilt University; W. B. Smith, Tulane University; W. R. Wilson, Ohio State University; V. M. Sims, University of Alabama; Joseph Peterson, George Peabody College for Teachers, and others prominent in the field of psychological research.

A village parson's daughter eloped in her father's clothes. The next day the newspaper came out with an account of the elopement, headed: "Flees in father's pants."

REMOTE CONTROL RADIO STATION OPENED AT U.K.

The new means of communication are quite as necessary to a university as to a newspaper or a business organization of wide-ranging connections. What the University has to say on many subjects through the members of its faculty and staff should be interesting and valuable. Each day, five times a week, and once each week in the evening, programs of talk and music are to be given by the University to the radio audience over Station WHAS.

"The University is a great agency and should be used in these times. It has many means of finding out about things. The state supports it and as an agency of education it can give and should give to the people of Kentucky."

"What is the program to be? In general it projects itself into the years. When the matter of the program came up for discussion it was amazing how many things suggested themselves for consideration. A discussion of the state—its history, industry and institutions—is a topic that stimulates the imagination. Agriculture, like the brook, could go on forever; the problems of political science are many indeed and one of much interest to the citizens. Here again are brooks, plays, music, art and story. Then the work of the engineer and what he does all over the world and the doings on the campus of the University, in class room, library and on athletic fields might well be told over the radio. The problems of education are of interest to every boy and girl and to each parent. These questions extend from the nursery school to the graduate school and professional college. In fact, these matters concern every one of us and they possess an interest that should make them fascinating.

"As president of the University, I invite all to cooperate in making this a great vital agency for good."

At noon five days each week between 12:45 and 1 o'clock, programs will be broadcast from the extension station. Three of these days, Monday, Wednesday and Friday, will be used by the College of Agriculture; on Tuesdays the radio will be taken by Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, head of the Department of Zoology, and other departments will be heard from on Thursdays. The program on Wednesday nights, between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock, will be devoted to music by the University band, glee clubs and orchestra.

The heavy end of a match is the light one.

"GAGE" HATS

For All Occasions

The introduction of "Gage" hats at this moderate price has created wide interest because they are unusual values at five and seven-fifty. It permits the presentation of the highest type millinery at prices within the reach of the average woman... a fact amply attested by the arrival in our after-Easter showing in the South's newest and finest millinery.

Now-a-days the young woman wants to play the "I" and "My" of her character and in fancy hats. "Gage" is pre-eminently the hat of personalized expression. Its select quality, rich workmanship and supple pliability make it your hat, stamped with your taste and worn that way. Just think, for you, at only $5 and $7.50.
